Washington Roundup

(By International News Service)
Sen. Walter George, of Georgia, chairman of the senate finance committee, predicted today that there will be an abundance of jobs when Germany is defeated. He made his forecast as congress squared off for a bitter fight over state or federal control of unemployment benefits during the reconversion period. George has sponsored a bill which leaves control in the hands of the states but provides a federal guarantee of solvency of state funds and paves the way for liberalization. The finance committee has been called into session to report the George measure.

High government officials went to work today to whip the manpower shortage problem, the greatest war production headache. As the nation's aircraft output for July slipped 499 planes behind schedule, WPB, manpower and service officials urgently sought to stem the tide.

Sen. Robert P. Taft of Ohio, disclosed today he may join a bi-partisan move to liberalize the federal law censoring books and magazines for troops overseas. Taft said Sen. Green (D-R. I.) co-sponsor with Sen. Lucas (D-Ill.) of a liberalizing amendment, had expressed agreement to collaborate on remedial legislation. Taft is author of the controversial title 5 of the soldier vote act covering censorship of reading matter.

PA NEWC Observes

One result of the war to be seen along some of the highways in Western Pennsylvania is the number of former gas stations that have been converted into living quarters for families.

With the surfacing of East Washington street to the Neshannock creek bridge as contemplated, and resurfacing of Long avenue, as planned, along with many other street paving and improvement jobs of recent years, New Castle is becoming one of the best paved cities of the state.

One of the lawns around the city that seems to have kept remarkably green, despite weather conditions is that surrounding the Arthur McGill public school on the North Hill.

NEW THRUST MADE AT TALUD ISLANDS

By JACK MAHON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HQ., New Guinea, Aug. 2.—Troops of the American sixth army extended their hold across the northwest coast of Netherlands New Guinea in the Samsapor area to a distance of 10 miles today through a second surprise landing on the Jap-held territory.

The drive by the amphibious forces to expand their beachhead on territory within 600 miles of the Philippines was accompanied by a new heavy aerial assault on the Jap vital island base of Halmahera, midway between the Samsapor beachhead and the Philippines.

Four Jap vessels, a freighter and three coastal craft, were sunk and an undetermined number of Jap planes were destroyed by the force of Liberators and Mitchells which gave Halmahera its third slashing attack.

The new landing on Cape Samsapor by sixth army forces was the second in two days and carried the Yanks 10 miles west of the original beachhead. The Americans captured a Jap base station at Samsapor village.

As in the case of the earlier landing, the new assault was completely unopposed, but there was evidence that the Japs had slipped out of the area only a few hours before the landing.

New Thrust On Talud
The bombers which struck Halmahera carried out their mission as patrol planes made a new thrust against the Talud islands, less than 150 miles south of the Philippines, and there sank another Jap coastal vessel.

Raiding planes which attacked Halmahera systematically wrecked the Jap airstrips and smashed enemy planes caught on the ground.

NAZI POSITIONS BEING CRUSHED (BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 2.—American mechanized forces advancing into Brittany "almost at a gallop" today plunged through the town of Pontorson and shattered German resistance before the great railway hub of Rennes, now only 30 miles away from forward Allied elements.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower used less dramatic phraseology, but the outlook was the same. German resistance appeared to be cracking at many vital spots, and as Churchill said, the Americans already may be approaching Rennes.

American and motorized infantry forces of the U. S. First Army smashed forward more than nine miles inside of Brittany today, driving ahead steadily to crush German positions and reaching the town of Pontorson, 13 miles southwest of Avranches.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reported gains by the Americans east as well as south of Avranches as the Yanks fanned out into Brittany after crumbling the German left flank.

Germans Blasted Out
Midway along the American-held battlefield, the Germans were blasted out of the hotly-contested towns of Percy and Tessy-Sur-Vire which the Germans strove desperately to hold but were forced to relinquish in bitter street fighting.

A headquarters spokesman said the most violent type of combat took place throughout the entire area northward from Villieuville.

During the next two days, those executives, sitting with the Republican candidates for president and vice-president, will attempt to fashion one of the campaign weapons with which they hope to end 12 years of continuous Democratic national control.

Gov. Dewey charges that the Roosevelt administration has generated unnecessary friction between federal, state and local governments.

He will attempt, during the next two days, to bring about a definition of federal-state responsibilities and obligations which will satisfy the

Two-Way Drive On Philippine Islands Is Now Developing

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Gen. MacArthur's latest successful amphibious assault against the islands of Amsterdam and Middelburg demonstrates completely that the Allied offensives against the empire of the rising sun move steadily forward.

Sorong is at the extreme western end of New Guinea. The islands just mentioned are within 60 miles of Sorong. That means that the armed forces of Gen. MacArthur have by-passed many Japanese garrisons.

From Two Directions
The Allied armed forces are approaching the Philippine archipelago from two directions—from the east and southeast. First, Adm. Nimitz's fighting units are at Balikpapan, Timian and Guam. LONDON, Aug. 2.—A promise that the interval between defeat of Germany and of Japan will be "much shorter than I at one time supposed" was given to the House of Commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today.

In a lengthy review of the war, delivered at a moment when punishing blows were being dealt to the Germans and Japanese in every theatre of action, Churchill said with evident satisfaction that the enemy is "recoiling" before allied armed might "on every battlefield all over the world."

Robot Tank Latest Nazi Secret Weapon

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—A new German secret weapon making its appearance on the Normandy battlefield was reported today to be pretty much of a dud.

In a dispatch from the Canadian sector of the battlefield, Reuters said the latest German weapon, designated V-4, was a robot tank which is supposed to jet itself into explosives at a radio-directed spot.

However, out of 12 sent against the Canadians, two were destroyed, six jetted their explosives with varying success and the others just milled around aimlessly, evidently out of control.

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—Swiftly-paced Russian armies raced across Latvia today and reached the coast of Klapkals, cutting the last railroad and road escape lines for an estimated 300,000 German troops in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

In a sudden spurt westward from captured Jelgava, Red army forces extended their deep salient into the Baltic states and reached the Gulf of Riga, thus isolating the doomed German 16th and 18th armies defending these northern states.

Aim At Heart Of Reich
To the south, Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin revealed that Soviet troops have completely cleared the Germans from Kaunas. The advance to Lithuanian capital puts another spearhead into the vulnerable German side, aimed directly at the heartland of the Reich.

Kaunas is on an almost direct line about 75 miles due east of Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia. Still farther south in Poland, the First White Russian army under Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky has put Praga, suburb of Warsaw within the battle zone, with fighting now in sight of the Polish capital.

Heavy calibre Russian siege guns are wheeling into place to blast the Nazis out of this great European city even as frontline reports said that the Germans themselves were destroying the city.

Heavy Fighting Now In Progress Near Florence

Rapid Advance Being Made In Guam Conquest

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 2.—Heavy fighting was reported today on the approaches to the great Tuscany city of Florence as Italian troops of the Eighth Army eliminated another German strong-point in the town of Castiglioni, nine miles southwest of Florence.

Elsewhere in the upper Tiber Valley sharp fighting was recorded and important local trains choked up by the Allied forces. Strong opposition met troops advancing in this sector.

On the remainder of the land front contact with the Germans was confined to patrol skirmishes and artillery duels.

Aircraft Attacks
Tactical aircraft of the Mediterranean Air Force continued their attacks, concentrating on enemy communications in the battle area and in northern Italy.

Railroads, roads, bridges, transport and shipping were among the targets hit and in Yugoslavia air blows were made against shipping and German supply areas.

Three bridges between Genoa and Milan were knocked out and highways and bridges from Florence north to Ostia and Cremona were smashed with high explosives.

Adverse weather restricted air operations and no heavy bombers were out during yesterday. One enemy aircraft was destroyed and two of our planes are missing. The MAAF flew approximately 1,100 sorties.

QUESTION OF WAR UP TO GERMANY

(BULLETIN)

ANKARA, Aug. 2.—The Turkish government announced officially today that diplomatic and economic relations with Nazi Germany will be severed at midnight.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

London, Aug. 2.—Turkey severed diplomatic and economic relations with the Reich today and left the decision of whether the Turks will go to war against Germany up to the Nazis themselves.

The decision of Turkey to cut its ties with the Germans after Ambassador Franz von Papen reportedly made an 11th hour attempt to maintain relations was announced by the Turkish radio.

Announcement Made
Announcement of the rupture was made by Premier and Acting Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu in an address to the grand national assembly in Ankara.

Whether Turkey will take up arms against the Reich depends entirely on the attitude which the Germans now will take, Saracoglu said. The premier emphasized that the move by Turkey did not necessarily mean entry into the war as a belligerent on the side of the allies but implied that if the Germans gave evidence of hostile reaction the Turks might go into the allied camp.

The decision of the cabinet to sever relations was not unexpected since it had been rumored for several days that Turkey was prepared to cut ties and possibly grant the United Nations use of Turkish bases in accordance with an alliance with the British.

The cabinet's decision was approved by the national assembly, the broadcast said.

GIVE REPORT ON BOMBER LOSSES

Allies Lost 601 Bombers In Attacks On Europe Since D-Day, June 6
By LILLIAN GREENWALD (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The Army Air Forces revealed today that in the strategic bombing of Europe from June 6—D-day—to July 30 a total of 601 bombers and 196 fighters were lost compared with the destruction of 1,391 enemy planes—a ratio of almost two to one.

An AAF report stated that reduced enemy fighter opposition has lowered bomber losses on strategic missions to approximately two percent from the winter and spring rate of three to four percent, while AAF fighter losses recently have been approximately one percent.

The size of Eighth Air Force bomber missions against strategic objectives in Nazi Europe rose from a winter and spring average of 800 to 1,000 planes, to a recent average of 1,200 bombers and the Fifteenth Air Force's scale of attack has also increased materially.

In contrast, as a result of Allied air supremacy, fighter escorts have been cut down to 700 or 800 planes from the usual figure of more than a thousand in February and March, 1944.

The report said that since D-day American flyers have dropped 61,372 tons of bombs on strategic targets in Germany and occupied Europe in a total of 27,330 sorties and 19,102 support sorties flown from English, Italian and Russian bases.

Top priority targets for strategic operations were nearly 60 synthetic and natural oil plants, which were pounded in 11,700 bomber sorties from June 6 to July 30, the report said.

Assert Rommel Merely Injured

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—The Nazi DNB agency reported today that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel "met with an accident on July 17—but his life is not in danger."

The agency dispatch apparently was issued in an attempt to refute numerous reports from neutral sources in recent days that the former leader of the Afrika Korps and field commander of anti-invasion forces in Normandy had been killed on the French front.

Rommel, favorite general of Adolf Hitler, thus became the highest-ranking Nazi leader to be listed as injured or killed in the last few weeks. There was immediate hint as to where the "accident" occurred.

In Conference On Philadelphia Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Further action by the War Labor Board to halt the strike of 11,000 Philadelphia transit workers was anticipated today with the arrival in Washington of Sylvester Garrett, chairman of the Philadelphia regional WLB.

Garrett went into executive session with the full national board to discuss the strike.

Just what the next step of the board will be was a matter of speculation but there was a possibility of the strike eventually going to the White House.

Twenty Employees Return To Work

About twenty tool and die shop workers of the Aluminum Company of America are back at work today, it was announced at the plant offices. The balance of the 115 on strike for the past week have not returned despite the directive of the War Labor Board, ordering them to return.

Japs Are Paid Off At Guam

Grim symbols for Japan were those American Marines who raised the American flag over the wrecked United States Marine Barracks on Guam. They were thinking of 155 comrades gone, on December 10, 1941, were slain or swept away into prison pens when 8000 Japs landed against them there.

These 155 Americans have been avenged. Many times their number he dead on Guam. The price paid by Japan since the treachery at Pearl Harbor has been many fold—and still the full toll has not been exacted and will not be until the American flag flies again at Corregidor and Japan is in utter defeat.

Premier Koiso appeals for a great Japanese war effort. He'll need it. The American Marines, the Navy and the Army wanted Guam to wipe out one American defeat, and also as a jumping off place to give the Japs plenty more.

Fire Panic For Crowds

The word panic has an ominous sound. In nearly all congregations of people where fire occurs, panic ensues. In discussing this subject from the standpoint of loss of life, the National Board of Fire Underwriters say that panic cannot be eliminated. Therefore it is important to reduce the causes of panic to the greatest possible extent.

History is a record of catastrophes which cause death and injury from panic. Whole armies have fled in disorder when panic mastered a few and then was transmitted to the mass.

Fire panic hazards exist in many places, including theaters, night clubs, cabarets, schools, factories, stores, churches, hotels and apartments.

Adequate exits, well placed, will go far toward giving a sense of security to crowds, and will lessen the panic hazard. But toxic gases caused by fire, can kill people before they have a chance to move, where the gases can sweep upward through open stairways.

The answer to the danger of panic, says the National Board, is to "provide security of mind, which means make it visible to the eye or repeat it in print or otherwise until it is a subconscious reality, that the place is of good and, preferably fireproof type of construction; that there is little quick burning material; that where these conditions do not exist, the place is protected by automatic sprinklers; that adequate, well marked exits exist; and last, but not least, that these exits are usable."

Public cooperation is indispensable in avoiding panics which destroy life.

Freezing Vs. Canning

In a few short years the canning era has given way to the era of the deep freezer. The change is all the more noticeable because homes are loaded these days with victory garden produce which, come whatever crisis, must not be allowed to go to waste.

Deep freezers have become ordinary adjuncts of the American cellar. They are not perfect and some of them have a peculiar appearance. Converted ice gram freezers, re-rigged electric ice boxes and home-made contraptions of all kinds now stand where once stood the prudent household's stock of canned goods.

There is a great deal to be said for the new method from the point of view of ease of preparation as well as improvement in taste. Frozen foods are more tender and better flavored than the canned variety. And, somehow, it seems simpler to work with cartons than with cans.

The big drawback to the home freezer is that it requires watching. Canned foods, if properly cooked and properly sealed, can be packed away and forgotten until wanted. But the deep freezer is a thing of temperament and upsets. It is susceptible to electric storms. Any one of a number of things may occur in its vitals while the family is away or not looking. And food once unfrozen is not guaranteed to freeze again without detriment to its flavor if not quality.

There can be few worse disasters in the home than the demise of a freezing unit well stuffed with perishable groceries. Like the preservation of liberty, the preservation of food at low temperatures requires eternal vigilance.

Fish And Dams

Every time a dam was built in the United States in the last generation complaint was made that proper arrangements were not included in engineering for fish to move upstream. The theory was that fish could not swim freely upstream because fish ladders were improperly built. Fish ladders were more frequently improperly built than improperly placed.

Comes a new era. Dams are to be built in increasing numbers and on more and more streams. Don't ask why. Such things are decided by fate and people on the government pay roll. The latter at least have agreed that after the war dams are to be built as never before. But it is doubtful whether a solitary fish ladder will figure in this dam-building saturnalia.

A division of the fish and wildlife service has been established to give particular attention to the establishment of fish hatcheries. Instead of building a contraption in each dam and hoping the fish will worm their way up over the ladder, the interior department will specialize in growing fish and planting them in streams.

This will not only provide fish in abundance between dams, but relieves fish of the arduous task of ladder-climbing. What is to prevent the fish from floating over dam after dam until they all arrive at the mouth of a stream?

That is a question to be presented to one of the boys on the pay roll, who will no doubt have a ready answer. Few of the boys on the pay roll can be accused of lacking mental agility.

Just White Collar Men

White-collar workers of Los Angeles and San Francisco, who have been denied a wage increase of $15 a month by the War Labor Board, are said to constitute the largest group of this class of employees ever to seek a rise in salary.

This action overturned a recommendation by the regional board, which had investigated rising costs of living on the Pacific coast and ascertained that they had far outrun the earnings of these workers.

WLB's stand in this case contrasts with its long series of surrenders to wage increase demands by labor organizations which have either gone on strike against the Nation's war effort or have threatened to do so.

A $15 a month raise for small-salaried office workers, who are struggling to pay their debts and make ends meet, could hardly be considered a factor in inflation. It is difficult to see on what basis WLB rendered this invidious ruling, suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer, other than the assumption that white-collar men are no concerted political or other influence and therefore are not entitled to consideration by this administration.

Purpose Of Dewey's Trip Is Discussed

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 2.—This is one of the strangest campaign trips in American political history. If you take it at face value, it's not a campaign trip at all.

Governor Dewey's announced intention in Pittsburgh was to confer with leaders of business and labor on the problems of reconversion in the post-war period. He did concede that at lunch there would be some discussion of politics.

Partly this is the caution—yes, the over-caution—that has characterized every step of Dewey's political career. Partly it is shrewd politics.

The governor wants to identify himself in the public mind with the post-war readjustment. The war, he says, is going well. Governmentally, he told his first press conference, no progress whatsoever is being made on what is to follow the war. In this, of course, he is almost 100 per cent right and he hits the Roosevelt administration at one of its most vulnerable points.

Objective Of Second Phase
The objective in this second phase of the campaign, as carefully worked out by Dewey and the clever men around him, is not to present a candidate asking for votes. That would be premature at this stage. The idea is to show an alert young administrator anxious to solve local and national problems through cooperation.

That was the picture presented in Pittsburgh, and it will be unveiled again in Springfield and St. Louis. In some respects it is a technique borrowed from F. D. R. You don't do anything as obvious as to ask people for their support in the fashion of Wendell Willkie, who went crusading up and down the land four years ago. Oh, no—you simply make it appear that you are willing to serve and that you are the inevitable choice of reasonable and intelligent men and women. That, too, is a carry-over from Dewey's technique of definitely and emphatically not running for the nomination while all the time moving as rapidly as possible in that direction.

Doing Smooth Job
While he minimizes any effort at political organization, Dewey and the men around him are apparently doing a smooth co-ordinating job as they move across the country. They want to be in the local organizations as closely as possible. This is to be done before any public campaign is laid down.

Sometimes you wonder whether the campaign will ever reach the public phase. The wraps are taken off with such caution that November 8 may have passed before we get down to the essential Dewey and what he believes. A kind of political strip-tease is being done in slow motion.

The emphasis on organization is understandable. Certainly it's important here in Pennsylvania, where politics has for years meant the machine and the boss—Vare, Penrose, Guffy and their kind.

Both sides are organizing. The CIO political action committee is hard at work with the leaders aware of how much lost ground they must recover. Four years ago Roosevelt received 2,171,000 votes to 1,889,000 for Willkie. In the 1942 election, the total Democratic vote was 1,948,000, while the total number of Republican votes cast was 2,403,000.

Under Pennsylvania law, persons who did not vote in 1942 must re-register. This means that not only war workers who have changed residences, but also union members who didn't bother to vote in '42 must be rounded up before October 6, which is the last registration date.

The Democratic majority in Allegheny county, an ancient Democratic stronghold, dropped from 104,000 in 1940 to 22,000 now. The political action committee has set as a goal the registration of 60,000 voters. That is a minimum if the necessary majority is to be pulled up. If the job of registration can be done among the half million members the CIO claims in Pennsylvania, it might swing the state for Roosevelt.

But the Republicans will be working just as hard in areas where the anti-Roosevelt feeling is intense. This is apparently to be a contest of the wits.

SEN. GLEAN NOW TELLS US

You hear a lot of funny ones in the cloak rooms—one of the current ones has to do with a nation-wide campaign that is now said to be sweeping across the country, viz. some died-in-the-wool Bricker-for-President adherents advocate a sort of "write-in" campaign—the idea is to put an "X" in front of Bricker's name on the November ballot and cross out the word "vice" leaving only the word "President."

I might make so bold as to remark that "write-in" campaigns seldom achieve their purpose. Crossing off the prefix "vice" will cause lots of ballots to be thrown out as "illegal" in many sections. And, John W. Bricker would be the first person to object to such a campaign.

CHILD INTERRUPTS

"I have just been criticized for allowing my small child to remain in the room while receiving callers. What is your opinion?"—Carla.

Answers: "I think it is perfectly proper to introduce small children to guests and allow them to remain a short time at your parties or during your friends' calls that they may early obtain those glimpses of social life that will be a foundation for social graces and serve as a background for pleasant memories when they look back on their childhood. But to have your young child hanging upon you or otherwise listening in while you are having confidential chats with callers, or during sophisticated conversations or actions while a lively party is in progress would be not only unwholesome to the child but bore-some to your guests."

Keep your children childish. Train them to be little ladies and gentlemen, but by all means prevent their becoming precocious. Those allowed to observe and overhear the party doings and party conversations of their elders soon lose the previous naivete of childhood and become unbearably wise for their years.

Question: Is it proper for the bride to carry a bag and gloves when she wears street clothes at her church wedding. If she should not carry a bag, what would she do with her hands while walking up the aisle?—Troubled.

Answer: She may or may not wear gloves. She should not carry a purse. She may be given away by her father, in which event she would take his right arm going up the aisle.

Question: Should a young person answer an older person with "yes sir" and "yes ma'am"?

Answer: "Yes" and "no" followed by the person's name. Boys say "sir," Girls do not. "Ma'am" is now obsolete in answering your equals except in the Southern United States.

Tomorrow—Are Women Men Wasters?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

STEP-MOTHER HAS PROBLEM

I have never been a step-mother, and can never hope to be one, but I have listened to, and read so many problems of step-mothers that I sometimes imagine I have been in their place.

It must be exceedingly hard to be a successful step-mother. First of all, it is difficult for the child over four or five, and especially for the adolescent child, who has been devoted to his real mother, to feel entirely right toward the woman who has taken the real mother's place.

Then, if the father has won the ardent esteem of the child who had no mother for a number of years, the new mother enters a triangle in which both the child and the father may unconsciously conspire against her. In the event the child believes the father and not the mother, she is in league against him the problems are no less serious.

In spite of all such difficulties, some step-mothers measure up most wonderfully. Many conscientious step-mothers do far better, indeed, than they are given credit for doing.

Face Problems First

To avoid trouble, or to keep them at a minimum, anyone about to become a step-father or step-mother should, before marriage, very seriously consider with the prospective mate, in a wholly thoughtful fashion, the problems which face them, and feel pretty sure that each is so disposed by temperament, point of view, and self-control to work with the other reasonably on the child's behalf.

Recently a step-mother who had married a man that holds a high public office in his city, poured out her woes to me. In the picture is an adolescent daughter whose mother died when she was very young and whose father is described by the step-mother as "worshipping this daughter and letting her always have her own way."

Step-mother's Dilemma

The step-mother feels responsible for the girl's conduct. Naturally so. But according to the step-mother's report, when she attempts to advise or reprove the girl, the latter turns upon her and abuses her or strikes her. If I were that step-mother, I should resolve never to interfere with the girl's conduct unless I first had presented the problem to the father, as I saw it, and had worked out with him a plan of action and had his solemn promise of support. Anyway I should put my trust in winning the girl's regard and cooperation, and place no hope in the effect of negative criticism or in efforts of coercion.

What makes many a family discord tragic is that every one involved may be suffering, each one feeling all the while himself or herself the only one to be pitied.

The World and the Mud Puddles

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

In a world of death and destruction there is something refreshing and inspiring in the rescue of old "Drive" aged and all but toothless fox hound, by a posse of Missourians. Ten days ago "Drive" left the hound pack on a moon hunt and got himself imprisoned in a rock cave. When the other hounds led searchers to his prison, the community organized a rescue party. Seventy-five neighbors joined the owner to blast through thirty feet of rock in order to effect a rescue. The women came along and supplied food while the men worked in relays. When old "Drive" all but starved, finally was dragged through a hole in the rock, his own gratitude and the joy of the rescuers was something rare to behold.

There was something more back of ten days' work and worry than the fact that "Drive" was "the best coon dog in Missouri." It was a deep sense of humanity and that strange bond which exists between man and his best friend in the animal world.

The finest tribute ever paid to a dog was that of a Missouri Senator named George Graham Vest. "The only absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness."

His fellow Missourians have demonstrated that they are in full sympathy with the Senator's eloquent voicing of his fine sentiments.

GRAY HAIR

It seems that many persons do not like to show the signs of growing old. A great effort is made to prevent the hair from turning gray. Whenever there is a great want, there are always people who take advantage of it.

Perhaps if there were a method of preventing gray hair there would be no gray haired people. Especially the doctors and druggists would not have gray hair.

So far there has been no way found to prevent gray hair or to restore the natural color.

This fact does not prevent people from spending their money on false hopes.

A test knob on a pot lid is enough to make you lose your religion. But use a cork. Put the cork on through lid from underside, and twist cork on sharp end of the screw.

Be smart like the beaver. Before using dates, even though they are packaged, wash them carefully in warm water.

REPORT NEW PEACE EFFORT IN FINLAND

New President Of Finland, Being Urged To Head Peace
Movement

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim, appointed president of Finland after the resignation of President Risto Rytty, was called upon by a delegation from the Finnish peace opposition to assume leadership of a peace movement in Finland, a Reuter dispatch from Stockholm said today.

A reliable Swedish source in close contact with the Finnish peace opposition was quoted as the source of the information in the dispatch which said the peace group felt Finland's military position was becoming steadily worse.

The London radio, according to CBS, reported the opposition group was trying to persuade the entire Finnish government of Premier Edwin Linkomies to resign. Another report said that the resignation of the Finnish government was "likely" soon.

According to a broadcast heard by NBC, the British radio said "it is understood in Stockholm that Moscow has informed the Finns that, even at this late date, the Russian government 'is not entirely unresponsive to new peace overtures,'" and added that "Finland appears to have taken the first steps toward peace with Russia."

Marshal Mannerheim was reported to have received a written memorandum assuring him that a move toward peace on his part would faithfully represent the views of the majority of the Finnish people.

HAS JOINED NAVY

Mercer Man Accused Of Being Absconding Witness Is Now In Navy

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 2.—(INS)—Everitt N. Wilson, 48, whose wife, mother and hired hand were slain on his farm near Mercer last fall, today was in Camp Peary, Va., after being inducted into the navy.

He was free on $5,000 bond on a charge of being an absconding witness.

Wilson was convicted in June of being an absconding witness. Trial of William A. Morell, the 20-year-old farm hand who was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of Wilson's wife, Mrs. Helen Wilson.

A petition for a new trial on the charges was made by Wilson and he was released on bond. Wilson's attorneys said they were unaware of his intention of enlisting in the navy but said it would have no bearing on the petition hearing.

A subpoena for the appearance of Wilson at the trial of Janice Graham, 20, which is scheduled to be held next month, was issued by District Attorney E. C. Moon, but has never been served. Mercer police Chief Leonard Ringer, who has the subpoena, said he was unable to find Wilson despite reports that Wilson was in Mercer.

Miss Graham will be tried for the murder of Mrs. Katherine Wilson, 78, Robert McKay, 70, and Mrs. Helen Wilson, 47.

Local authorities said they were unable to decide the bearing Wilson's enlistment will have on the trial of Miss Graham but explained he would now be under the jurisdiction of federal authorities.

SENATOR CLARK PICKS UP GROUND

Trailing In Early Returns From Democratic Primary In Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, lagging earlier in his race for re-nomination on the Democratic ticket, began to pick up ground today on his opponent, Attorney General Roy D. McKittrick, in Missouri's primary election.

McKittrick, now completing his third consecutive term as attorney general, campaigned on a 100 per cent Roosevelt platform which backed the New Deal's foreign and domestic policies.

Clark, a veteran of nearly 12 years in the U. S. Senate, has clashed with administration policies on many issues.

In 2025 of the state's 4512 precincts, the vote was: McKittrick, 76,302; Clark, 75,557.

The vote at this stage was so close it was believed absentee ballots might determine the final result of yesterday's primary.

On the Republican side, Gov. Forest Donnell took a big lead at once, for the senatorial nomination and his victory seemed certain.

In reports from 1725 precincts, Lebanon, running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, held a commanding lead over Rogers T. Sermon, mayor of Independence.

Budget Plans Reveal Ideas On End Of Conflict

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The Budget Bureau reported today that war spending plans for the Federal Government are being based on the "hope" that the European phase will end before June 30, 1945, but that the Pacific war is assumed to continue beyond that date.

The bureau made its observation in a review of the 1945 budget—sent to Congress in January by President Roosevelt—which disclosed that 393 billion dollars have been appropriated or authorized by Congress for war purposes since June 17, 1940, when the "defense" program was begun.

Of this total, the Budget Bureau revealed, $294 billions had been translated into war contracts and other war obligations by the end of the 1944 fiscal year, on June 30, and that the Treasury Department had actually paid out 200 billions for completed war contracts and pay and subsistence for the armed forces by that date.

Sounding an optimistic note, the bureau stated that "this year's estimates are influenced by the hope that the liberation of Europe may be accomplished before the end of the fiscal year 1945 (June 30, 1945), while the Japanese phase of the war is assumed to continue all through the fiscal year and beyond."

Three Sets of Figures

Further illustrating government views on the probable end of hostilities in Europe, the Budget Bureau stated that in calling for estimates for fiscal year 1946 from the government agencies, they have been asked to supply three sets of figures. These figures are to be based on assumptions that the war will be continued on all fronts; that hostilities will end on one front; and that hostilities will end on all fronts.

"In our planning we must be prepared for war as well as for partial or total demobilization," the Budget Bureau observed.

The statement warned, however, that the end of the war in Europe would cause no abrupt end to government war spending.

It was estimated today that the total national debt on June 30, 1945, will be 10 billions smaller than was anticipated when President Roosevelt sent his budget message to Congress in January. Half of this 10 billions savings is expected to come from tax collections which are now estimated to be almost five billions greater than was anticipated in January. The major part of the remaining five billion will be realized in an anticipated reduction in the amount of money the Treasury will have on hand at the end of the 1945 fiscal year.

At present, it was disclosed, the Treasury is carrying the record amount of 20 billion, 200 million, available for spending.

Congress has made available 94 billion, 300 million for war spending during the 1945 fiscal year, the Budget Bureau stated. Of this total only 83 billion, 300 million actually will be spent during the year, it was stated, and the balance of 11 billion dollars will be available for spending in the 1946 fiscal year and thereafter.

In the coming 12 months the Budget Bureau estimated that 90 billions would be spent for war, the same amount as was estimated by Mr. Roosevelt last January.

Actually, the 90 billion total represents a decrease in the overall war program, for spending of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration now have been incorporated in the figure, although it was excluded in the January estimate.

Non-war government spending during the 1945 fiscal year is now estimated to total nine billion, 504 million dollars.

Gasoline Stations Face Suspension For Fake Stamps

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—(INS).—The Harrisburg district office of price administration announced today that "between 25 and 50 gasoline service stations will be forced out of business entirely in the Harrisburg 10-county district for accepting counterfeit coupons."

Walter C. Young, acting director, said the price control agency had instituted a system of debiting the permanent inventory of gasoline dealers who accepted fake stamps. He disclosed 206 dealers had been debited for 104,200 gallons that had been sold on bogus coupons.

"The procedure works exactly the same as though the station operator's bank had discovered counterfeit money or improperly endorsed or postdated checks among his deposits," Young said. "In both instances the amount of the invalid currency is charged against the operator's account."

He added that in addition to losing permission to sell gasoline, he added dealers accepting phony stamps face criminal prosecution.

President May Take Action In Philadelphia Tieup

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS).—Government intervention in the strike of 11,000 Philadelphia transit workers was anticipated today when Jonathan Daniels, administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, and Brig. Gen. Edward S. Greenbaum, went into a conference with the national War Labor Board.

Greenbaum is attached to the office of Under Secretary of War Robert Patterson. In the past it has been Patterson's office which has taken over strike bound industries under orders of President Roosevelt.

It also became known that the War Labor Board has drawn up an order requesting President Roosevelt to take over the Philadelphia Transit system.

Mayor John F. Haven today stated that the campaign, now being conducted by approximately 300 women throughout the eight wards of the city is proceeding satisfactorily and that the effort to raise $25,000 for free year-around recreation is meeting with success. One of the first to turn in a donation is the Swine Lobby. Several evenings ago Harold Peers, member of the committee, to that body was given $34.80, which he promptly turned over to the treasurer.

Allied Fleets May Combine To Strike Japs

By ART COHN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE EASTERN FLEET IN THE INDIAN OCEAN—(Delayed)—The union of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's American Pacific fleet and Great Britain's eastern fleet for a grand assault on the Japanese today appears inevitable.

Editor's Note—The appointment of Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, former commander of the Royal Navy's home fleet, to head British naval forces in eastern waters was announced yesterday in London. The 56-year-old Scotsman, hero of many naval encounters with the Germans, is an expert in combined sea-air fighting.)

The belief of this writer in the approach of a combined assault was strengthened by an exclusive inspection of the eastern fleet, living on board battleships aircraft carriers, destroyers and submarines. The feeling also is widespread that the officers in charge of higher strategy are considering such a merger seriously.

The Japanese again appear to have missed the boat—if not the whole fleet. Until six months ago the Nipponese navy could have come through the Malacca straits and scored great victories in the Indian ocean. The enemy didn't do so then, and now he cannot. At present he finds time slipping by and the day fast approaching when this fleet will go east and challenge him.

Guarded Secret

One of the most closely guarded secrets of this war has been the strength of this fleet. The Japanese never have been able to estimate its power at any time until six months too late, but it is no secret that it has been gaining force and is continuing to gather strength as the successful invasion of France releases battleships and carriers for this theater.

Japan's tenuous supply lines to Sumatra, Java and the Malay states are reaching a critical state because of increased sinkings. So desperate are the enemy leaders now that junkies are being utilized for transporting food. British submarines are taking a heavy toll in the Malacca straits and the marked decrease of Japanese shipping in recent weeks strengthens the belief that the enemy's southern outposts will be starved out of the war.

Realizing the impossibility of feeding the Andaman-Nicobar-Malay-Sumatra sector and their inevitable doom, the Japanese are withdrawing from the islands and leaving behind only token garrisons. The situation is so critical at sea that a ship of more than 5,000 tons is a rarity and the presence of a proper cause establishment.

Since the chief justification of the eastern fleet's presence in this area has been to keep the big Japanese forces occupied, the enemy's withdrawal can mean but one thing—sooner or later the eastern fleet must and will follow the Nipponese eastward and, with Nimitz's navy, destroy them.

LEK! TAKE IT AWAY!

SPOKANE, Wash.—(INS).—Two girls appeared at the Spokane police station requesting "sleeping quarters" for a five-foot bull snake. They explained they were afraid the wriggling creature would be run over if left by the roadside. But the police objected. A sergeant stated firmly that the only side of a station for a snake was on the outside.

Ninth Air Force Chief Has Narrow Escape In France

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(INS).—In a report from U. S. ninth air force headquarters, Reuters reported today that Maj. Gen. Elwood Quesada, chief of the ninth air force, had narrowly escaped death when his jeep was hit by a German shell.

According to the British news agency, Quesada was driving near Tilly-sur-Vivres when he saw a tank ahead and remarked that that doesn't look like one of those we've knocked out.

A moment later a shell from the tank smashed the jeep tossing Quesada, unhurt, into a ditch.

Reports On Red Cross Work For War Prisoners

Speaking on "Relief to Prisoners of War," Mrs. Claude D. Mickelwait, a member of the National Red Cross prisoners of war service now in New Castle as the guest of the Lawrence County chapter of the Red Cross, told Tuesday evening in a public address at the Y. W. C. A. what the Red Cross is doing for prisoners of war detained in Germany and the Far East.

The speaker was introduced by J. Glenn Berry, chairman of the Lawrence County chapter. Three things are of paramount importance to prisoners, she said: 1, mail; 2, what to eat; 3, what to do.

At the transit camp to which a prisoner is first taken he receives an "on capture" parcel containing toilet articles, clothing, etc. Already 75,000 of these have been sent overseas. At the present time in Germany prisoners receive each week through the International Red Cross at Geneva one standard food parcel. This parcel weighs 11 pounds, contains food with a food value of 11,000 calories. Over 1,000,000 of these are now being packed every month.

Packages Distributed. Other packages distributed to prisoners through the Red Cross are the invalid food package, medical package and garden package. The latter contains 12 packages of vegetable seeds and 4 of flower seeds.

Channels are not yet open to send "next of kin" parcels to prisoners detained in Japanese camps, but to Europe the wife or mother of a prisoner may send a package every 60 days. Mrs. Mickelwait advised thinking of Christmas in the next package sent out by a man's family as it takes 3 or 4 months for these to get through.

What Men Ask For. Men who have been in German prison camps and know what men like best to receive in a "next of kin" package have suggested: Seasoning such as pepper, celery, onion salts, all sorts of condiments and flavorings, handkerchiefs, soap, socks, underwear, vitamin tablets, woven name tags to sew on clothing, bouillon cubes, fragrant shave cream, lotion, and after-shave powder. This parcel should be made as personal as possible. Mrs. Mickelwait advised with all members of the family sharing in its planning and packing.

Through publishers five pounds of books a month may be sent each prisoner. As far as other recreation in the prison camps go, the speaker said, the Y. M. C. A. through the Red Cross has done a wonderful job of sending supplies and game equipment. In some camps educational programs have been organized by the men themselves.

Red Cross Publications. In European camps the Red Cross distributes the Red Cross News, a bulletin publication containing several non-war information. A small pamphlet cooking guide that contains very simple recipes and suggestion for varying daily menus by the use of contents of the Red Cross food package has begun to be distributed to the camps and will be increasingly.

Mrs. Mickelwait concluded her talk with suggestions for the revision for the Geneva Prisoners of War Treaty of 1929 and invited questions from the audience. Information on conditions in particular camps in Germany was available to those who requested it.

RECORD IS SET IN BOND DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—With more individuals buying bonds than in any previous loan, the Fifth War Loan drive passed its goal by more than $4,500,000,000. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau stated last night, in announcing that sales had reached $20,680,000,000.

The corporation quota was exceeded by about $4,309,000,000, and quota for individuals was passed by $330,000,000, Morgenthau said, adding that this established a world record for war financing. So far, the "E" bond quota of $3,000,000,000 seems to have been exceeded slightly.

BOYS BREAK IN, TAKE OVER HOUSE

GROVE CITY, Aug. 2.—Complained to police that boys had ransacked a home and a factory resulted yesterday in the arrest of two groups, four youngsters 7 to 10 years, and six lads, 15 and 16.

The "small fry" enjoyed a field day at the Montgomery Broom company plant, breaking windows and scattering materials. The older group had been making a clubhouse in the vacation absence of the family, using the radio, cooking food from supplies in the refrigerator and using the beds. A quantity of cigarettes and rifle cartridges were taken.

In both cases, the boys were released when parents agreed to pay for damages.

South India has abandoned horse-racing for the duration.

GERMANS ARE FALLING BACK

Defense And Withdrawal Seem To Be Program Of German Forces

By DON CAMPBELL (Reuter Correspondent)

(Distributed by I. N. S.)

WITH BRITISH FORCES IN France, Aug. 2.—After another night of lightning stabs, the capture of half a dozen more villages and commanding features and the consolidation of the 13-mile deep salient south of Caumont, a senior staff officer told me today:

"I do not think the enemy has anything more in his mind than defense and withdrawal."

Among the places stormed and captured are Le Beny Bocage, Feuguerolles-sur-Seules, La Bacaille, northwest of Le Quesnay, Robin and Breuil and Point 230 on the main Caumont-Ayney-sur-Odon road, Jurques, east of the Bois du Homme, and La Perriere au Doyen northwest of the Bois du Homme.

The Germans are falling back on several sectors although there is no evidence yet of a general withdrawal.

"Threatened with disaster, it seems the Germans have no choice now but to stand and fight it out," said a staff officer.

State Department Issues Statement On Turkey's Move

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Turkey's action in severing diplomatic and economic relations with Germany was hailed by the United States government today as "a step toward full cooperation with the United Nations in their struggle against Nazi aggression."

This statement was issued by the state department following the action of the Turkish Grand National assembly, which early today decided to make the break with Germany.

There was no indication, however, that the Turkish government intended to take the further step of declaring war. In fact, some United States officials expressed the belief that this was unnecessary and might be undesirable.

It was hoped, however, that the break of diplomatic and economic relations would be supplemented by Turkey's granting the Allies use of air and naval bases for action against Germany.

That the United States government desires such further assistance was indicated in the language of today's statement, which described the break of relations as "a step toward full cooperation."

Strikes Continue In Detroit Area

DETROIT, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Two thousand first shift employees were locked out at the Kelsey Hayes Wheel company's McGraw Plant today after the workers failed to heed a week-long company warning that they would be suspended unless they reported for work an hour earlier than usual.

Mickey Mitchell, chief steward for UAW-CIO local 174 said, however, that yesterday was the first warning the workers received. He charged that the company was laying off workers and increasing the working hours of those not dismissed.

A company spokesman denied Mitchell's charges. He said the midnight shift had been eliminated and the workers transferred to the day shift "because we just can't get men."

Meanwhile the UAW-CIO ousted 15 officers of local 235 who admitted they were unable to end a week-long strike of 7,000 workers at five Chevrolet gear and axle division plants in the Detroit area.

Declares Liquor Shortage Reports So Much 'Hokum'

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 2.—(INS)—All that talk about a liquor shortage in Pennsylvania is just so much "hokum," according to Frederick T. Gelder, chairman of the state liquor control board.

In fact, he declared during an inspection trip of warehouses in the Pittsburgh district, there is more whiskey in the commonwealth now than before rationing.

However, he did admit a lot of it was in distilleries and a good deal of that some was being hoarded by individuals.

Gelder was optimistic as to the future of liquor rationing.

"During this month," he pointed out, "the distilleries will be permitted to make alcohol for exclusive beverage use. Naturally, the present supply will be greatly replenished, how much I cannot say at this time."

"Perhaps, we may be more liberal in rationing, but it's too early to make a prediction or decision for the future."

TURKEY BREAKS RELATIONS WITH NAZI GERMANY

Turkish government ordered all Turkish ships in German-controlled Bulgarian and Romanian ports to return to Turkish waters immediately.

Turkish vessels which had been scheduled to leave home ports remained at anchor in the Bosphorus under government order.

The action was formalized despite reported threats of the Germans to take reprisals against the Turks if relations were severed.

The Turkish radio quoted Saracoglu as saying that the United States government had supported a British request that relations be broken off.

"Friends," Saracoglu said in addressing the national assembly, "our ally Britain has requested us within the limits of our agreement, to break off diplomatic and economic relations with Germany. The United States government has supported the British request."

Asks Acceptance. "After having closely studied the question, the government approved the request and decided to present a positive answer to the grand national assembly for acceptance."

Saracoglu explained that "various equipment and economic and financial aid were asked by Turkey in return for favorable action."

"Following the positive answer to this request given by our British allies," the premier continued, "our government informed the British ambassador that the government will pass on the national assembly the decision taken by the cabinet to break off diplomatic and economic relations with Germany as from the night from Wednesday to Thursday."

"This positive answer was received with great satisfaction in London. Not War Decision."

"Two days later, the British ambassador, with a signed letter to the foreign office, stated that this positive decision of the Turkish cabinet was real proof of the friendship and agreement between Great Britain and Turkey and expressed also the importance of Turkey's position in the decisions she is about to take."

"Friends, the decision you are about to take is not a decision for war. This will depend on the attitude taken by the opposite side. I am sure that the decision which will be taken by the assembly, which has the fate of Turkey in its hands, will be a great and historical decision and will be useful for the future happiness of the country."

After the speech the measure was put to a vote and all 43 assembly members approved. The Turkish radio said.

Battle On Guam Gains Momentum; Jap Plight Sad

Americans Have Cut Guam In Half, Seek To Capture Northern End

By PERCY FINCH (Representing the Combined Allied Press)

ABOARD ADMIRAL CONOLLY'S FLAGSHIP OFF GUAM, Aug. 2.—(Via Navy Radio)—With the annihilation of the big Jap force on Orote peninsula as a forecast on Guam are anxious today to come to grips with the main body of the enemy hiding in heavily wooded plateau country in the north and sweep them off the island.

This is no longer a battle to hold a few thousand yards of hard-wood beachhead. It is a campaign by a sure and confident American army which has cut Guam in two and acquiring momentum daily, is measuring in miles its advance toward the northern coast and final victory.

POSTWAR PLAN FOR EDUCATION

Department Of Public Instruction Seeks To Aid Veterans' Education Plans

By JAMES H. SMITH (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—The Department of Public Instruction looked forward today to a broad postwar education program designed to aid veterans complete their education, teach housewives "thrifty and economy" and boost community recreational programs.

A. W. Castle, chief of extension education, said plans embraced the reduction of illiteracy, efficient assimilation of the foreign-born population, the establishment of adjustment counselors for adults and aid for war veterans and indigent youths.

In 1940, Castle pointed out, there were approximately 228,000 Pennsylvanians with no education while only about 37,000 completed four school grades. Efforts to reduce illiteracy, he added, were being made by officials in 80 extension centers throughout the state.

While the reduction of illiteracy was a major problem, Castle said he believed the establishment of a consumer education program was necessary.

Readjustment Plan. "After the war," he predicted, "the economic readjustment plus the immediate effects of the enormous national debt will call for individual, group, state, and national economy."

"We would like to teach housewives how to buy things and how to preserve them," he added. "We would like to teach men and women how to save money when buying household and other articles."

He pointed out that returning veterans will be given an opportunity to complete their education by attending night schools or vocational schools.

Castle said that another "big problem" will be the education of indigent youths. He explained that these youths, without family ties, were working in war plants today, but after the war when older employees return they will be dismissed.

He predicted that unless something was done for this group there would be another age of transients.

"We let boys stop school and then when they fail to hold jobs society drops them like a hot potato," he declared. Castle said "indifference on the part of communities" was a contributing factor to juvenile delinquency.

RECORD OUTPUT BY THREE MINTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The three U. S. mints turned out a record production of coins in the fiscal year ended June 30, of which nearly one-fourth was for foreign governments, the treasury announced.

Total coinage amounted to 9,761 tons for domestic purposes and 2,593 tons for shipment abroad. The latter included a large amount of coins especially minted for Allied troops. The mints operated on a 24-hour-a-day basis, producing 2,578,640,270 domestic coins valued at $109,464,836.70.

Produced were 50,683,500 half-dollars, 111,250,800 quarters, 244,422,000 dimes, 253,630,000 nickels and 1,918,653,670 pennies. No silver dollars have been minted since 1935.

Demand for pennies was given as the chief reason for the sharp production increase.

Foreign coins totaled 487,847,000. The Philadelphia mint with 1,550,137,670, produced the largest number of domestic coins. It also stamped out the largest number of foreign coins—370,120,000.

The San Francisco mint turned out 575,164,000 domestic and 32,400, foreign coins. Denver had a total of 453,338,600 domestic and 65,327,000 foreign pieces.

Berlin Is Silent On Turkish Move

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—An official Wilhelmstrasse spokesman today declined to comment on Turkey's severance of relations with Germany, asserting that a full statement would be made only after "reasons" for the step had been studied.

The Nazi DNB agency, quoting the spokesman, reported that he said:

"The German attitude will only be forthcoming when the official message giving the proper reasons for Turkey's step is received in Berlin."

War Equipment Vitaly Needed

Emergency Measures Are Essential If Production Is To Be Maintained

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of the Army Services Forces, declared Tuesday that as the war goes into "the home stretch," emergency measures are essential if needed production is to be attained in 1944.

"We have our choice," Somervell asserted. "We can expend more heavy ammunition guns or we can expend more lives. Experience in Italy and Normandy has proved beyond argument that the more big shells we throw at the enemy at any given sector, the faster our advance and the lower our casualties will be."

Somervell pointed out, at a news conference, that the shortages in vital war equipment fall into 320 categories in 90 of which the amount on hand is less than 50 per cent of minimum requirements, and that the most urgent of the items is heavy artillery ammunition.

By December, Somervell said, the monthly output in this item alone must be more than a million and a half pounds.

Must Meet Need

The service forces chief explained that an increase of 450 million dollars in the monthly rate of production would be required to reach the peak requirement of two billion 308 million dollars in October of this year if goals are to be attained.

"If we don't meet our need we will have to slow the tempo of the war accordingly," Somervell declared.

He said that the chief reason for shortages at present was the manpower situation. In recent months optimism about the progress of the war has caused a shift of labor away from essential war jobs.

Somervell added that among the shortages which are particularly acute are rubber tires, radios and radars.

Also critical are truck production, penicillin, cranes and derricks, and cotton duck and tents, Somervell said.

In discussing the latter, he cited a letter from General Douglas MacArthur which stated his men were moving so fast they could no longer depend on fixed helter and that tent requirement had been stepped up accordingly.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

PITTSBURGH — Cattle rustling died with the Old West but 30-year-old Calvin J. Hill, Warren, O., was jailed by the local federal court in default of $1500 bail and charged with the unlawful transportation of a bull and a heifer he had allegedly taken from a neighbor's farm.

STATE COLLEGE — Many persons owe their lives to the unsung poultrymen at the Pennsylvania State college. Each year they supervise the hatching of more than 20,000 chicks used in laboratories where life-saving serums are developed.

PITTSBURGH — Smoky City police are as romantic as anybody but when spooners cluttered three one-mile long runways at the Moon Township airport they firmly decided the grounds belonged to airplanes and chased the couples away.

HARRISBURG — Three hundred delegates attending a convention of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council at Harrisburg, though it would be just another meeting until President John Phillips "extracted" contributions from them to defray expenses.

EASTON — Forrest M. Jor, Phillipsburg, N. J., business executive was scheduled to address the Easton Kiwanis club so he sat while three speakers extolled his accomplishments. When the time came for Major to speak, the luncheon was concluded and the members had to forego his remarks.

More Lend-Lease To Italy Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—The State department disclosed on Tuesday that consideration is being given to a proposal for extending lend-lease aid to Italy.

This would represent the longest step yet taken in the direction of embracing the former Axis partner as a full-fledged member of the United Nations.

The proposal was made by the head of the new Italian government, Premier Ivanoe Bonomi, who described his country's financial and economic condition as desperate. The only hope, he said, was the granting of lend-lease aid by the United States.

Acting Secretary of State Stettinius said today that the Bonomi proposal had been received and was being given consideration.

Plan To Discuss Postwar Peace

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Acting Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius revealed Tuesday that military and naval experts will take part in the forthcoming "Big Four" conferences on a post-war peace organization and said that the conference would discuss plans for using force to maintain peace.

Stettinius told his news conference that the meetings will begin Monday, August 14, in Washington, and are expected to last two or three weeks.

It is expected that Secretary of State Hull will open the conference with an address indicating the direction he hopes it will take.

VEGETABLE SALADS GOOD FOR SUMMER MEALS

Garden fresh vegetables make crisp and delicious salads to tempt those lagging appetites that are likely to occur during warm weather.

Next to a refreshing iced beverage, an attractive salad not only makes you feel better but also stimulates your appetite. A salad is good for any meal of the day except for breakfast, and right now when vegetables are abundant in the garden is a good time to serve salads often.

Two good rules to keep in mind when making salads are: (1) never combine more than four different foods in one salad; (2) marinate (let stand in French dressing) meat, potatoes and other cooked vegetables one hour before making a salad, then drain and mix with mayonnaise.

For homemakers who do not have a really good recipe for French dressing the following suggestion is made:

- 1/2 cup oil
- 1-4 cup vinegar or lemon juice
- 3-4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon sugar if desired

Herbs if desired. Put all ingredients in a bottle or jar with cover. Chill. Before serving shake vigorously until the oil and vinegar form a thick emulsion.

Other practical suggestions and recipes for summer salads are given in leaflet 91 which may be obtained upon request from the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

DESTROY CORN BORERS IN EARLY SWEET CORN

In some parts of Lawrence county early sweet corn has been attacked by corn borers. In one case 56 stalks in 100 had borers in them. Later plantings showed a smaller number of borers present.

There is some indication that the two generation brood of corn borers which is active in the southeastern part of Pennsylvania has reached Lawrence county. In order to prevent the second generation from becoming active and causing severe damage on late corn and other thick-stemmed crops, early sweet corn stalks should be destroyed by putting them in the silo promptly or plowing them under completely as soon as the ears have been harvested. Failure to destroy the early stalks may result in severe damage later this summer and next spring especially in the field of garden where the stalks have been left.

AVOID AUGUST DROP IN MILK PRODUCTION

Although flies have been blamed for the summer drop in milk production usually occurring in August, experiments prove that flies are only a minor cause of the drop in production.

The milk decline at this time of year is caused by hot weather, high humidity and reduced feed consumption. When temperatures rise the respiration rate of the cow increases in an attempt to regulate body temperature, and a high respiration rate is not favorable to heavy milk production. At the same time a cow will seek shade and comfort instead of being inclined to hustle around for feed. Dairy cattle will not graze long on hot days.

Providing cow comfort will help maintain milk production during August by:

- 1. Have plenty of fresh water available at all times.
- 2. Supplement short pastures with hay, silage or green feed.
- 3. Feed grain, especially to high production cows.

4. Cows like a cool, shady place to lie down and rest. If none is available, bring them to the barn during the heat of the day.

Cow comfort is just as important during hot summer months as during the cold winter months.

RED MITES ATTACKING POU- LTTRY FLOCKS NOW

Red mites are extremely numerous this year and are lowering the vitality of many poultry flocks.

Mites usually hide in the cracks and crevices of perches and perch supports of laying houses, range shelters and brooder houses in the daytime, but at night they crawl out to attack the birds and suck their blood.

Painting the perches and supports with kerosene, crank case oil or a commercial red mite paint will kill the mites. If kerosene or oil is used, repeated applications may be necessary. Painting should be done in the morning to let the material soak well into the wood before the birds go to roost at night.

The muskellunge fish sometimes reaches a weight of 60 pounds.

Between spells of duty at our southern outposts, the American soldier knows how to relax. Predicts Jobs To Be Plentiful

Senator George Believes Employment Will Be Good After Nazi Fall

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. — Sen. Walter F. George (D) Ga., chairman of the Senate Finance committee, today predicted that jobs will remain plentiful after the fall of Germany.

"I don't think there will be any great unemployment after Germany is defeated if materials are released for civilian goods manufacture," he said. "There would, of course, be temporary unemployment due to necessary shifts."

George's prediction came as Congress squared away for a bitter battle over the question of whether the federal or state governments shall control unemployment benefits for workers who lose jobs when peace comes.

The Finance committee was called into session to report out a bill by George which leaves control in hands of states but provides a federal guarantee of solvency of state funds, and paves the way for liberalization.

The Senate Military Affairs committee tomorrow considers two bills — the Kilgore bill and a new Murray-Truman bill — which liberalizes benefits and makes the federal government dominant.

Differences Cited

Differences cited include: State unemployment systems pay benefits from $2 to $20 a week, with an average of $13 for a varying number of weeks of unemployment.

The Murray-Truman and Kilgore bills would provide benefits of $12 to $25 a week, the benefits to start three months after the law is enacted and to continue for two years after the war. The average benefits would be $27 for ex-servicemen and $24 for civilians.

George proposed his bill guaranteeing solvency of state funds as a compromise or stop-gap measure.

"The states have unemployment benefit systems which have been operating for eight years and they oppose a change," he said. "They had over $5 billions of reserves on May 1, 1944 and they are increasing over one billion a year.

"Even if the Senate passes an overall general bill and federalizes unemployment compensation, it will fall of enactment prior to the election because of jurisdictional difficulties in the House.

Sen. Harry S. Truman (D) Mo., Democratic nominee for vice-president, joined Sen. Murray (D) Mont., in demanding enactment of a broad demobilization measure.

The Truman-Murray-Kilgore plan does not federalize the state unemployment systems. It provides, however, that the federal government set the standards and pays the excess cost above state standards.

Should states refuse to accept the federal money, then the United States government would move in and establish its own unemployment compensation system on the states.

Most Urgent Jobs Chalked Up Now

Employment Office Lists Thirty-Four Of Most Important On Blackboard

Listed on a blackboard in the office of the United States Employment Service are thirty-four urgent job openings in local war industries.

This list, which begins with accountant and ends with operator of a vertical boring mill, has jobs which are in industries that have been rated class A under the new priority federal system of the War Manpower Commission. Applicants for jobs must be "exposed" to these positions first if they have the necessary qualifications, according to G. R. Gettings, new manager of the office.

Included are railroad jobs, such as fireman and brakeman; skilled jobs, such as machinist, lathe operator, drill press operator; laboring jobs; janitor work; and apprentice work, such as machine shop trainee.

Persons who are qualified are urged to apply for these positions at once, in order to prevent a slow-down of local production. Mr. Gettings said. And these jobs aren't all he added. When they are filled there will be others to go on the list.

"A great liberal, his fame and glory will increase as his policies gradually approach fruition. I mourn him.

Salvation Army Women Double In As Painters

Do Artistic Job In Painting Front Porch At Army Home On Jefferson Street

That women can do more than bake cookies doesn't need much proof any more, but many persons seemed a little bit surprised to find young Salvation Army Captain Thelma Dundan and her lieutenant, Leona Pittman, out painting the front porch of the Army's headquarters on Jefferson street the other day.

Painting it wasn't all they did, either. First they sanded off at least ten old coats of paint that had become cracked and rough, and scrubbed the walls as clean as a new sheet. The back porch got it, as well as the front, but the girls haven't finished painting it yet.

As a matter of fact the front porch isn't quite completed. Right now, the walls are a shining gray but the floor is a reddish-brown that attracts such comments as "well, it's certainly wonderful!" But it's not staying that way. Captain Dundan asserts, she and Lt. Pittman will be out front again this summer, covering the colorful porch with a smooth coat of gray.

The little fence protecting the new grass in front of the Army home is something else to Captain Dundan's credit. She made it herself in the shop on the first floor of the barn behind the home, and with the help of another girl painted it and stuck it into the ground.

"And that isn't all," continues the energetic captain, as she struggles to keep her dog, Sir Michael Mahoney, in the room where he belongs. "We've got gray cement for the floor of the barn, and we're going to paint the walls of the first floor brown."

And at that point Sir Mike breaks away, with the captain after him.

Members Of Lions Club Make Tour Of Weinschenk Garden

No formal program was held by the Lions Club Tuesday following their weekly luncheon in The Castleton hotel. Instead the club went to the Weinschenk Gardens where they visited the greenhouses with their thousands of tomato vines and the hundreds of acres of string and lima beans.

The visit to the gardens was a revelation to the club members, many of whom had never seen such extensive bean cultivation.

Enrollment Down, But Costs Go Up

School Report Shows More Expenditures And Teachers Although Students Are Fewer

In spite of a declining enrollment, operating expenditures of all the school districts of Pennsylvania were 159 per cent higher in 1942 than in 1920, according to a report issued today by the Joint State Government Commission.

As for enrollment itself, the report shows that although it has been decreasing steadily since 1933, the peak year, there are still more children attending school now than in 1920. Teachers, however, have been increasing in number, probably because so many of the students are now of high school age, when more teachers are needed for fewer pupils.

Greatest addition to expenditures in maintaining the schools were increases in teachers salaries, stated the report. As late as 1928, the average annual salary of elementary teachers in fourth class districts was only $892, but in 1942, the same group was averaging $1443.

Liberated French Crazy With Joy

Inhabitants Of Granville And Avranches Nearly Mob American Soldiers

By WILLIAM STRINGER, Reuters Staff Correspondent (Distributed by I. N. S.)

WITH U. S. FORCES IN FRANCE, Aug. 2.—Liberation day was a holiday in Granville and Avranches and along the road in-between. Silk stockings for the women, Sunday suits and cigars for the men were the order of the day.

Children clustered around halted tanks to touch an American or ask for the famous "chewing gum" they have heard about by some devious means from across the sea.

"Les boches finish, eh, very?" a French youth said as he pinned flowers to a jeep.

Old men waved canes, girls threw kisses to soldiers in jeeps and women embraced any men in United States uniform.

Cards Slaughter Brooklyn 14 To 3

Whit Wyatt Chased As Fast Ball Fades, Pirates-Boston Game Is Stopped

BROWNIES TRIM SENATORS AGAIN

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—One of the most pitiful sights in the sports world is the spectacle of a great star suddenly slipping from stardom into hopeless mediocrity. A stake horse reduced to running with the platoon, an ex-champion trying a comeback in the ring, a fading pitcher trying to hang on when his arm is gone—all are sad things to see.

We were reminded of this yesterday when Whit Wyatt, famous fireball pitcher of the Dodgers, essayed a comeback against the Cardinals. But the blazing fast ball that used to stand the hitters on their heads was gone and the high-flying Red Birds took too holds and let poor old Whit have it.

Hopp Ties Record
When Wyatt left the mound with the sympathetic cheers of the most loyal fans on earth—the Dodgers fans—ringing in his ears, there came to view one Charley Fuchs, a refugee from the semi-pros; Ralph Branca, an NYU sophomore; one Claude Crocker, a 19-year-old from North Carolina University making his big league bow, and Rube Melton, another veteran with a sore arm. Need we say that Mort Cooper had no trouble breezing to a 14 to 3 victory while Johnny Hopp, the Cards' first sacker, tied a record by getting on base six straight times.

The Reds shaded the Giants 5-4 in the ninth, largely on McCormick's hitting. The big first baseman drove in all but one of the Reds' runs. The Cubs and Phils were idle but the Pirates and Braves staged another of those eight inning games that must be finished at a later date. When hostilities ended, the Pirates were ahead 12 to 8.

Tigers Top Yanks
A twilight crowd of 28,815 saw Dizzy Trout of the Tigers hang up his 16th victory of the season at the expense of the Yanks, 8 to 4. Joe Hoover drove in three of the Tiger runs and Rudy York chipped in with his 11th homer.
The Browns increased their lead over the Red Sox to five and a half games by knocking over the Senators 11 to 2 while the Indians had an eight-inning uprising against Tex Hughson to beat the Red Sox, 8 to 4. And the Athletics again nosed out the White Sox, 3-2 in 10 innings.

City Baseball Loop Meeting Friday

Six Teams Represented At Last Night's Meeting Of Managers In Y.M.C.A.

Shenango, P. R. R., Johnson Bronze, Alcoa, West Pittsburgh and Moose were represented at last night's City Baseball League managerial meeting held in the Y. The U. A. A. and I. A. M. were not represented. No inkling of what they discussed was given out. However the managers have asked that officials meet with managers at seven p. m. Friday.

Previous to the meeting, President M. J. Donovan had called a meeting for Thursday night, but no doubt will cancel that call and meet with the managers Friday night.

Wolverine Star Moundsman Enters American Legion Junior Hall Of Fame

Badurik entered the American Legion Junior baseball league hall of fame last evening by pitching the Wolverines to a 9 to 1 win over the Cardinals and didn't allow the least semblance of a hit, although the Cards did notch a run on an error. Badurik fanned 11 men and was master of the Cards in every inning. He had perfect control and did not walk a batter. Fine catching of Wasilewski helped Badurik in his victory. Tanner was the feature hitter with a homer and double, while Hicks had a triple.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE

Sammy Angott Defeats Perry

Over 12,000 See Former Lightweight Champion Defeat Capital Sensation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Sammy Angott, former lightweight boxing champion, today held a unanimous 11-round decision over Aaron Perry, Washington welterweight sensation.

The veteran lightweight, weighing 142 to Perry's 143, fought a cagey, elusive battle before 12,000 fans at Griffith Stadium last night to win the unanimous verdict of Judges Frank Schuyler, Orville Upton and Referee Marty Gallagher.

Makes Perry Miss
Shifting his tactics throughout, Angott alternately slugged, boxed and mauled his way to make the hard-hitting 17-year-old Washington negro miss frequently on his sharp pay-off punches.
Although the Washington, Pa., batter unloaded his full bag of fistie tricks in the bout, the youthful Perry had Angott in slight trouble in the seventh round following a series of rights to the head. Angott recovered quickly and went on to win the last four rounds handily.

Racing Board Opposes Move To Aid Betting

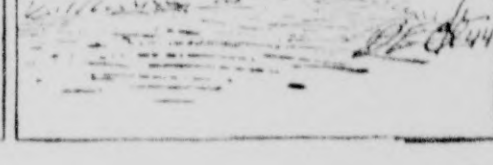

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(INS)—The Illinois racing board expressed its firm opposition today to any move which would legalize "off the track" betting on horse racing.

The board said in a resolution that "the passage of any legislation which would legalize or permit off the track betting would defeat the aims and purposes of the board and would eventually subordinate completely the breeding, owning and racing of thoroughbred horses."

Dodgers Purchase Veteran Chapman

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday announced the purchase of Ben Chapman, pitcher-manager of the Richmond, Va., club of the Piedmont League, for an unstated sum and pitcher Clyde King. Chapman will report to the Dodgers and King to Richmond immediately.

Chapman is the old Yankee outfielder, who turned pitcher and became a success in the minors. His record this year is 13 games won and five lost.

MOOSE DEFEATS WEST PITTSBURG

Anderson Outrulls Dombeck; Moose Wins In Last Of Fifth Inning

Moose defeats Blackie Fundoots' Wreckers of West Pittsburgh yesterday at Lee Avenue three to two in a game enlivened by a hurlers' duel, Anderson vs. Dombeck. West Pittsburgh pined a quarter of his while the Moose hit safely six times. Markey and Budia hit doubles.

The Moose scored their first run in the first of the second frame but West Pittsburgh went them one better, going into the lead in the last half of the inning. The lead was short lived, however, because the Moose deadlocked the score in the first of the third.

Both teams were blanked in the fourth but the Moose scored their fifth and winning run in the first of the fifth.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Dutch Prather, veteran first baseman with Norfolk of the Piedmont League, signed his first professional contract in the fall of 1926, a month before the birth of Paul Hazle, rookie receiver of the current Norfolk entry. Prather started out with St. Paul of the American Association during the 1927 season, before Hazle was six months old. Prather is now 36 years old and Hazle will be 18 on November 26. Age counts for little in these days of manpower shortages.

Promotions sometimes are costly affairs for budding young ball players, but you never heard of a player who wouldn't sacrifice a title for an advance in the game. Just recently Outfielder Gil Coan was promoted from Kingsport of the Appalachian League to Chattanooga of the Southern. Coan was leading the Appy in batting most of the season and was reasonably certain of being the swat king at the close of the race. But his departure makes it impossible for him to appear in sufficient Appalachian games to be considered for the leadership. The same thing was experienced by Steve Senko, husky Russian outfielder who graduated from Middletown of the Ohio State loop to Roanoke of the Piedmont. Senko had an excellent chance to win the batting championship of the Ohio circuit, but he lost it when he moved up the ladder.

Two Baltimore pitchers rolled seven, come eleven in an International League double-header the other night. Stan West, the Orioles' no-hit ace, tamed Toronto in the first game for his eleventh victory of the season. Not to be bested, Red Embree came back in the second contest and registered his eleventh triumph of the 1944 campaign.

It isn't often a player will lead different leagues in batting in two consecutive years, but Infielder Tony Castano of Toronto in the International loop may turn the trick this year. Unless he hits a bad slump, he has an excellent chance to cop the crown in the big AA circuit. Last year, Tony led the Piedmont League, although by the slimmest of margins. Carried to four places, he batted 3333 against 3326 for Wilmer Skeen, a rival. The St. Louis Cardinal organization played along with Tony several years before dropping him early in 1943. Signing with Richmond, he started on a hitting spree which may win him two consecutive titles.

Orlando, Manager Of I.A.M. Team

Argument Concerning Stopping Of Game Causes Rotunno To Resign Berth

Mike Orlando is the new manager of the International Association of Machinists City Baseball league game, Nick Rotunno having thrown down the managerial reins yesterday evening.

Here's why, according to a report received today by League Secretary Ed. Fritz.

The I. A. M. had nine runs on the P. R. R. Shop in the last of the fourth at the E. & A. field.

Rain fell and Umpire Mike Fabian stopped the game. He later ordered play resumed.
It was then alleged that the P. R. R. claimed some of their players had left and the umpire called the game off.

Potunno resigned and Orlando took over the reins.
The I. A. M. will make their first start under his management at E. & A. field Thursday when the Machinists play the Moose.

Young Has Better Of Veteran Peck Houston On Mound In League Game

Johnson Bronze with Ivan Young hurling a steady five-hitter defeated the Universal Pottery team 3 to 1 in a city league game at Marshall Field last evening. The game was a pitching battle with Young having the better of the veteran Peck Houston.

The Bronze got to Houston for six hits, with Kendra leading with a pair of singles. Herno of the Potters had the only extra-base blow in the game, a screaming home run drive for the lone Universal tally.

How to change your shirt on the DOUBLE QUICK!

On your day off, slip on an Arrow DOUBLER in the morning. If you lounge around, don't wear a tie, and leave the generous Doublor collar flared open. You'll find you're in a comfortable sports shirt.

Then if you go out, just button the top button, slip on a tie... and you're in a good-looking regular shirt!
The Doublor does a double job in double-quick time!

Come in and see this versatile shirt. It has a Sanforized label shrinkage (less than 1%) and is cut to the Mitoga fit.

Plan To Honor Mack On Friday

Expect Biggest Crowd In Shibe Park's History For Fiftieth Anniversary

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(INS)—The biggest crowd in Shibe Park's history is expected to turn out Friday night to celebrate 51-year-old Connie Mack's 50th anniversary as a big league manager.

All reserved seats were sold days ago, and some 20,000 general admission seats will go on sale when the gates open Friday night for the celebration, during which the Athletics will meet the New York Yankees.

The event will start off at eight p. m. with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello doing their famous "Who's on First, What's on Second" skit.

Stars in Spotlight

Then Connie himself will take the microphone to introduce his all-time, all-star team, including Babe Ruth, George Sinker, Frank Baker, Eddie Collins, Lefty Grove, Hans Wagner, Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb. The catcher's spot has not yet been filled. The field will be plunged in darkness, and as Mack calls out the names of the all-time greats, a single spotlight will pick them out on the field at their old positions.
Connie is modestly grateful for the loyalty of his fans, which he terms "without parallel in the history of sports."

"Now, at 81," he asserted, "I feel as if baseball has kept me young with the constant inspiration of youth."

GOOD UNDERTONE IN STOCK MARKET

Trading Is Dull, But Market Is Firmer; Gains In Fractions During Morning

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—(INS)—The stock market was firm today in dull trading but it had a good undertone.

Gains ran from fractions to more than a point. Turnover expanded and ran ahead of yesterday's 746,410 share pace.

General Motors scored a substantial fraction. Chrysler strengthened and Willys Overland also firmed up. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were fairly active at fractionally above last night's close.

Atchafalca rose fractionally. Union Pacific, a laggard for weeks, became active. New York Central and Southern Pacific were traded without much change in price.

International Telephone featured the communications rising fractionally into new high ground. Some of the chemicals, like air reduction, Dow Chemical and Union Carbide were firm. Utilities were listless aside from scattered activity in American Water Works and Engineers Public Service. Pepsi-Cola was up a large fraction on fairly light transactions. Farm equipments, aviations, oils, rubbers and sugars showed little change in price.

Curb stocks were quiet but firm. Rail bonds were steady.

STOP NAZI SPIES ON RADIO SENDING

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Radio Intelligence Division of the Federal Communications Commission has thwarted virtually all of the attempts of Nazi spies in this country to send wireless messages overseas, according to FCC Chairman James C. Fly. The RID, by using delicate devices and an around-the-clock watch on the airwaves, has been able to ferret out even the smallest of these transmitters, he said. Some were hidden in hotel rooms, garages and automobiles.

MEMBERS OF THE FRENCH underground raise the French tricolor flag over "Moaning Minnie", a six-barrelled German mortar captured at the mouth of a cave outside Fleury-sur-Orne, France. Italian Front Not Secondary

Allied Drive Is Continuing As Major Operation On War Program

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ADVANCED AFHQ, Italy, Aug. 2.—The Italian front hasn't been relegated into a side-show—it still is a major operation and a source of great worry to Hitler.

As the Allies slug toward the Gothic Line in Italy, the Germans realize that this is no secondary front. They've got to think of it at least three menacing points: The Normandy front in France, the Russian steamroller in eastern Europe and Italy.

Italy, after all, is one way to open the road into Germany from the south.

Rome Liberation
The liberation of Rome, of course, was the high spot in the Italian campaign and it may be a little difficult for the general public to get excited about Allied successes that have followed the capture of that one-time Axis capital.

Yet since Rome fell the Germans have been hammered back 180 miles up Italy in a northerly direction, losing one city and town after another with monotonous regularity. The Nazi defeats cannot be hidden behind adroitly-worded phrases about "strategic withdrawals."

Capture of Leghorn and Ancona, important ports on the west and east coasts of Italy, respectively, came like a shot in the arm to the Allied campaign in Italy. For several weeks the drive north from Rome had been rugged business and none too spectacular—but nevertheless extremely effective and significant.

Make Progress
The Americans took Leghorn and the Poles captured Ancona. In between during those weeks the fighting British knocked off the important city of Arezzo, a significant railroad junction in Central Italy.

The French, who seized Poggibonsi, and the Italians who were helping the Poles in the Adriatic sector, had been in on the play, too.

As the Allies neared the Gothic Line, which the Germans were feverishly fortifying further north, the Nazi realized that the Italian campaign was no soft touch and that there was to be no let-up in Italy.

The Gothic Line defenses before the Po Valley are formidable natural defensive features and the Germans have been hastily endeavoring to make them more formidable by constructing artificial barricades.

But General Sir Harold Alexander is going "all-out" against the huns in Italy. Cracking this defense is no easy task but if anybody can do it Alexander can. He has been de-battling the Germans since the great offensive opened May 11th, with the highly important assistance of General Mark Clark of the American Fifth Army.

Provost Marshal Is Appointed At Camp Reynolds

GREENVILLE, Aug. 2.—Captain Earle C. Riedley has recently been appointed to the post of Provost Marshal at Camp Reynolds, Pa. Before assuming his new duties, Capt. Riedley was Commanding Officer of the Military Police Detachment at the Camp. He succeeds Lt. Col. Altus G. Moore in the post.

Entering the service as an enlisted man in 1932, Capt. Riedley arose through the ranks and was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant upon graduation from the Infantry Officers Candidate school at Fort Benning Georgia on March 27, 1944. As an enlisted man prior to the war he saw service in the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, and Panama.

Army Nurses Are Badly Needed Now

BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.—The Army nurse plays a large part in keeping the mortality rate so extremely low in this war, according to Colonel Walter D. Wise, Medical Corps, Third Service Command Surgical Consultant.

The fact that more than 97 per cent of American wounded brought from the battle fields are alive today, Colonel Wise said, "is largely due to the prompt front-line treatment given the soldiers. Nurses in this war have gone closer to the lines than ever before. Following the first wave of attacking troops in Normandy, nurses waded ashore and in water-soaked clothes went to work immediately setting up dressing stations in tents and treating the wounded."

"At no period in my memory, except during the 1918-19 influenza epidemic have nurses been more urgently needed than now," Colonel Wise emphasized. "They are doing a marvellous job but are working under the handicap of inadequate personnel. At least 10,000 more Army nurses are needed to fill the Army's quota of 50,000."

PAYS TO BE THRIFTY

He amassed this fortune, the magazine explains, through careful investment of his savings—and the death of an uncle, who left him $50,995.
